

Surprise Winter Field Trip!

Eric Campbell

The Alberta Palaeontological Society is excited to invite you to a special overnight event at the Royal Tyrrell Museum of Palaeontology in Drumheller, Alberta!

Date: Friday, November 22 - Saturday, November 23

Itinerary:

- Friday Evening:
 - 6:30 PM: Arrive at the museum
 - Participate in fun palaeontology activities
 - Enjoy snacks
 - Lights out for the night
- Saturday Morning:
 - Breakfast
 - Explore the galleries!

Price: $51 per person

Your ticket includes:

- Evening Snacks & Breakfast
- Palaeontology activities
- Full-day admission to the museum

This is a fantastic event for kids & families, but we require at least one adult per five children.

Space is limited—we're only accepting the first 20 registrants, so don't delay!

Additional Information: Visit Royal Tyrrell Museum Camp-Ins (https://www.tyrrellmuseum.com/whats_on/activities/camp-ins) for more details.

This is a rare opportunity during the winter months when palaeontology events are usually scarce, so invite friends and family who share your interest in ancient life. Even if they're not yet APS members, this could be the perfect introduction!

To sign up, see the form in this issue or see the events page (<https://albertapaleo.org/events/fieldtrips>) on the APS website.

Don't miss out on this "Dinovember" adventure!

Pictured: The amount of fun you could have if you sign up for this field trip!

Picture by Eric Campbell